

Appendix F

Ground Data : Mount Gede Pangrango National Park

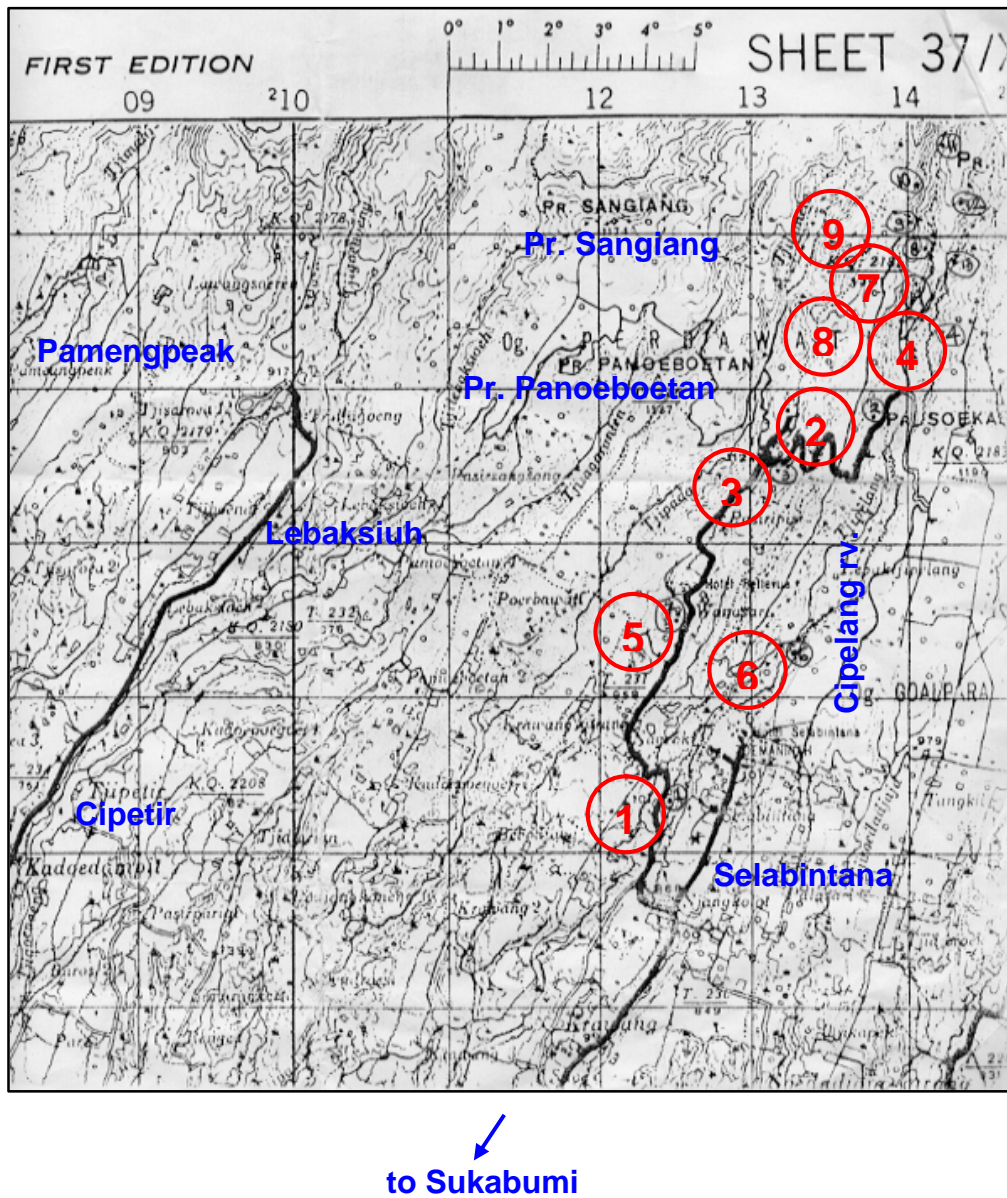

Figure F.1. Map of field survey that was held in July 2000

Figure F.2. Mount Gede (right) and Pangrango (left), west Java, Indonesia (figure F.1 )

Figure F.3. Hill of Mount Gede (900m asl), Rasamala forest, rock, and tea plantation around Cipelang river that flows from Mount Gede to Selabintana, Sukabumi (figure F.1 ).

Figure F.4. Tea plantation around Mount Gede at Pasiripis district, Pondok Halimun, Cipelang Selabintana Sukabumi (figure F.1 ).

Figure F.5. Hill of Mount Gede with variation of grass, fern, and rasamala. Pondok Halimun district in Gede Pangrango National Park. Land surface around this area is wavy (figure F.1 )

Figure F.6. Tea and tobacco plantation at Wanasari district, Sukabumi, with background Mount Gede Pangrango (figure F.1 ).

Figure F.7. Rasamala forest and tea plantation near Cipelang river (850m asl)( figure F.1 )

Figure F.8. Variation of Montane forest, fern, moss and bush (950m asl)( figure F.1 )

Figure F.9. Small tree trunk of rasamala that nominates hill of Mount Gede Pangrango (1030m asl) in Cicurug National Park (figure F.1 ).

Figure F.10. Rasamala (Altingia excelsa) in Mount Gede Pangrango with diameter 50 – 200cm and height about 7 – 20m. It grows at attitude 700 – 1750m asl (figure F.1 ).